

Dr Sol Pedre is head of the CAREM SMR Project, led by the Argentinien National Atomic Energy Commission. The CAREM reactor- currently under construction- is the first power reactor completely designed and built by Argentina, one further step in over 70 years of nuclear development in Argentina. Dr Pedre was previously in charge of the Robotic Division in the CAREM project, and is also a Professor at the Balseiro Institute in Bariloche."