

Yves Bamberger is Fellow of the National Academy of technologies of France. Yves has worked at the Central Laboratory for Bridges and Roads (1973–1980), at Électricité de France (EDF), one of the largest utilities in the world, operating on several continents (1980–2014), as: Information Systems Director; Deputy Director of the Generation and Transmission Division; Senior VP, Head of Research and Development; Scientific Advisor of the CEO. Past positions include: part-time Professor of Mechanics at Ecole Nationale des Ponts et Chaussées (1973–2000); Member of the Gartner Research Board – New York; Board member of the Electric Power Research Institute (EPRI) – Palo Alto; Member of the first Smart Grids European Technology Platform.